Planet B612

The Little Prince's Home. The Little Prince lived on a tiny planet called B612. It was just big enough for him, his volcanoes, and his favorite rose. Every morning, he swept the volcanoes and looked after his rose. He loved her even though she could be a little grumpy. On this planet, he learned that love means taking care of the things—and people—you care about.

The Rose Planet

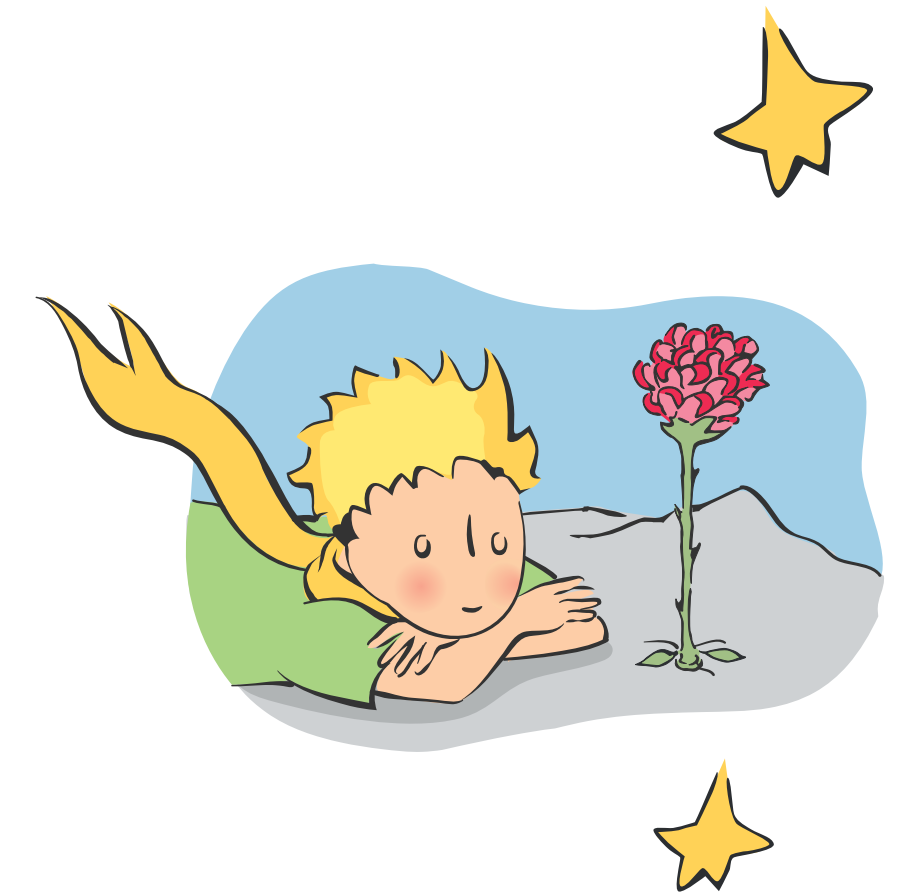

The Little Prince once found a planet filled with many roses—but none of them were quite like his rose. He remembered how she would blush when she was shy and how she would always ask for water. He realized that she was special because he had loved and cared for her.

The Fox Planet

One day, the Little Prince met a fox who wanted to be tamed. The fox said, "If you tame me, we will need each other. You'll be special to me." So the Little Prince sat with him, quietly, every day. And soon, they became friends. When it was time to leave, the fox told him: "What is essential is invisible to the eye."

The Lamplighter's Planet

The Little Prince landed on a planet where a man had only one job: to light a lamp every time the sun set. But the planet turned so fast that the poor man was always lighting and blowing out the lamp!

The Little Prince thought the lamplighter was kind, because he cared more about duty than about resting.

The King's Planet

On a grand planet, the Little Prince met a king who gave orders to everyone—even the stars! But the king was very wise. He said, “One must only give orders that people can follow.” The Little Prince liked the king because he was kind, even if he liked to pretend he ruled the universe.

The Geographer's Planet

The Little Prince found a geographer who wrote books, but never explored! He said, "We need explorers to tell us what the world looks like." So the Little Prince decided he would become one. He would go to new planets, learn from each one, and keep exploring.

The Snake & The Stars

At the end of his journey, the Little Prince met a wise snake and looked up at the stars. He realized that even if he couldn't stay everywhere forever, the memories and friends he made would shine in the sky like little stars. And he would always carry them in his heart.
