COHIBA

Flagship brand of Habanos, Cohiba was created in 1966 for President Fidel Castro himself and was made at the then top secret, but now world famous, El Laguito factory. At first, it was only seen outside Cuba as gifts for heads of state and visiting diplomats. Since 1982 Cohiba has been available in limited quantities to the open market. The name refers to the bunches of tobacco leaves that Columbus first saw being smoked by the original inhabitants of Cuba, the Taino indians.

MONTECRISTO

MONTECRISTO

In July 1935, Alonso Menéndez purchased the Particulares Factory, makers of the popular Particulares brand and the lesser-known Byron. Immediately after its acquisition, he created a new brand named Montecristo.

The name for the brand was inspired by the Alexandre Dumas père's novel, The Count of Monte Cristo, which was supposedly a very popular choice among the "torcedores" (cigar rollers) in their factory to have read by the "lector" on the rolling floor.

PARTAGAS

The Catalan Don Jaime Partagás y Ravelo emigrated to Cuba in 1831 and established his own factory, La Flor de Tabacos de Partagás in 1845. Don Jaime owned many of the best plantations in the Vuelta Abajo tobacco-growing region of Cuba. Don Jaime's ability to choose from among the finest tobaccos on the island, and an instinct for blending and fermenting tobaccos made the brand incredibly successful. Don Jaime is also legendarily credited with hiring one of the first lectores to read and to entertain the cigar rollers as they worked.

HOYO DE MONTERREY

The original Hoyo de Monterrey was the 1865 inspiration of José Gener, one of the most respected growers in Cuba's famed Vuelta Abajo. Hoyo de Monterrey cigars are still made the nineteenth-century way, cured and aged in their own time by the wind and the weather as nature intended.

TRINIDAD

While Trinidad as a brand was established fifty years ago in 1969, the company has been something as a mystery to most, as their cigars only became available for public sale in 1998. Prior to that, Trinidad Cigars are said to have only been made for the purpose of being given as a gift to foreign diplomats by Fidel Castro. For most of the company's existence, the only cigar produced by Trinidad was 7 ½ inches long with a 38 ring gauge and known as the Diplomatic Trinidad, due to its sole use as a diplomatic gift.
